English Abstract

A distributed electronic entertainment method and apparatus are described. In one embodiment, a central management resource is coupled to ...

...wide area network (WAN). The central management resource stores content and performs management, monitoring and entertainment content delivery functions. At each venue at least one entertainment unit is coupled to the WAN. Multiple entertainment units in a venue are coupled to each other through a local area network (LAN). In one embodiment, an entertainment unit includes a user interface that comprises at least one graphical user interface (GUI). The entertainment unit further comprises a local memory device that stores entertainment content comprising music, a peripheral interface, and a user input device. A plurality of peripheral devices are coupled to the at least one entertainment unit via the peripheral interface, wherein a user, through the user input device and the...

BACKGROUND OF THE INVENTION

Traditional entertainment systems for out-of-home use, for example in restaurants or bars, are typified by...

...units were stand-alone units in venues such as restaurants and bars. More recently, game entertainment units have been placed in venues to allow patrons to play electronic games, such as...

...fee using coins or some other method of payment. One disadvantage of some prior entertainment systems is that each freestanding unit, be it a music unit or a game unit...
...Another limitation of traditional electronic entertainment systems is that even in venues where both music entertainment and game entertainment exist, game entertainment units and music entertainment units with individual capabilities exist separately. A user of a game unit, for example, cannot ...

...payment hardware and software or external game controllers.

SUMMARY OF THE DISCLOSURE
